EASTERN DISTRICT OF LOUISIANA

CHESTER C. REED

CIVIL ACTION

VERSUS

NO. 17-3603

BP EXPLORATION & PRODUCTION, INC. ET AL.

SECTION: H(1)

ORDER AND REASONS

Before the Court is a Motion in Limine to Exclude the Causation Testimony of Plaintiff's Expert, Dr. Jerald Cook (Doc. 59) and a Motion for Summary Judgment Due to Plaintiff's Inability to Prove Medical Causation (Doc. 60), both filed by Defendants BP Exploration & Production, Inc.; BP America Production Company; BP p.l.c.; Transocean Holdings, LLC; Transocean Deepwater, Inc.; Transocean Offshore Deepwater Drilling, Inc.; and Halliburton Energy Services, Inc. For the following reasons, these Motions are GRANTED.

BACKGROUND

This case is one among the “B3 bundle” of cases arising out of the Deepwater Horizon oil spill.<sup>1</sup> This bundle comprises “claims for personal injury and wrongful death due to exposure to oil and/or other chemicals used during the oil spill response (e.g., dispersant).”<sup>2</sup> These cases were originally part of a multidistrict litigation (“MDL”) pending in the Eastern District of Louisiana before Judge Barbier. During this MDL, Judge Barbier approved the Deepwater Horizon Medical Benefits Class Action Settlement Agreement, but the B3 plaintiffs either opted out of this agreement or were excluded from its class definition.<sup>3</sup> Subsequently, Judge Barbier severed the B3 cases from the MDL to be reallocated among the judges of this Court.<sup>4</sup> This case was reassigned to Section H.<sup>5</sup>

Plaintiff Chester C. Reed alleges continuous exposure to oil and dispersants starting in June 2010 during the course of his work on skimmer boats engaged in cleanup efforts in areas near Dauphin Island, New Orleans, and Hopedale.<sup>6</sup> Plaintiff claims to suffer from a host of medical conditions because of the exposure, including chest pain, shortness of breath, abdominal pain, chronic sinusitis, joint pain, contact dermatitis, dizziness, eye burning, and more.<sup>7</sup> Plaintiff asserts claims under the general maritime law of negligence, negligence per se, and gross negligence with respect to the spill and its cleanup.<sup>8</sup>

Now before the Court are Defendants' Motion in Limine to Exclude the Causation Testimony of Plaintiff's Expert and their Motion for Summary Judgment Due to Plaintiff's Inability to Prove Medical Causation.<sup>9</sup> In the Motion in Limine, Defendants argue that Plaintiff's expert on medical causation, Dr. Jerald Cook, fails to satisfy the Fifth Circuit requirements for an admissible general causation opinion in toxic tort cases and should therefore be excluded as unreliable.<sup>10</sup> In the Motion for Summary Judgment, Defendants argue that assuming their Motion in Limine is granted, Plaintiff lacks expert testimony on general causation and therefore fails to present a genuine issue of material fact as to whether his injuries were caused by exposure to oil and dispersants.<sup>11</sup> To date, Plaintiff has filed no opposition to Defendants' Motions.

LEGAL STANDARDS

I. Daubert Motion

Federal Rule of Evidence 702 provides that a witness who is qualified as an expert may testify if: (1) the expert's "specialized knowledge will help the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue"; (2) the expert's testimony "is based on sufficient facts or data"; (3) the expert's testimony “is the product of reliable principles and methods”; and (4) the principles and methods employed by the expert have been reliably applied to the facts of the case. In Daubert v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, Inc., the U.S. Supreme Court held that Rule 702 “requires the district court to act as a gatekeeper to ensure that ‘any and all scientific testimony or evidence admitted is not only relevant, but reliable.’”<sup>12</sup> All types of expert testimony are subject to this gatekeeping.<sup>13</sup> The party offering the expert testimony bears the burden of proving its reliability and relevance by a preponderance of the evidence.<sup>14</sup>

The reliability of expert testimony “is determined by assessing whether the reasoning or methodology underlying the testimony is scientifically valid.”<sup>15</sup> The Court may consider several nonexclusive factors in determining reliability, including: (1) whether the technique has been tested, (2) whether the technique has been subject to peer review and publication, (3) the technique’s potential error rate, (4) the existence and maintenance of standards controlling the technique’s operation, and (5) whether the technique is generally accepted in the relevant scientific community.<sup>16</sup> Granted, the reliability analysis is a flexible one and “not every Daubert factor will be applicable in every situation.”<sup>17</sup> This Court enjoys broad discretion in determining admissibility as the gatekeeper of expert testimony.<sup>18</sup>

II. Motion for Summary Judgment

Summary judgment is appropriate “if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law.”<sup>19</sup> A genuine issue of fact exists only “if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party.”<sup>20</sup>

In determining whether the movant is entitled to summary judgment, the Court views facts in the light most favorable to the non-movant and draws all reasonable inferences in her favor.<sup>21</sup> “If the moving party meets the initial burden of showing that there is no genuine issue of material fact, the burden shifts to the non-moving party to produce evidence or designate specific facts showing the existence of a genuine issue for trial.”<sup>22</sup> Summary judgment is appropriate if the non-movant “fails to make a showing sufficient to establish the existence of an element essential to that party’s case.”<sup>23</sup> “In response to a properly supported motion for summary judgment, the non-movant must identify specific evidence in the record and articulate the manner in which that

LAW AND ANALYSIS

Having filed no opposition, Plaintiff provides no response to Defendants' arguments in favor of excluding Dr. Cook and dismissing all claims for failing to prove the causation element. However, "[a] motion for summary judgment cannot be granted simply because there is no opposition."<sup>27</sup> "The movant has the burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact and, unless he has done so, the court may not grant the motion, regardless of whether any response was filed."<sup>28</sup>

"B3 plaintiffs must prove that the legal cause of the claimed injury or illness is exposure to oil or other chemicals used during the response."<sup>29</sup> "The plaintiff's burden with respect to causation in a toxic tort case involves proof of both general causation and specific causation.”<sup>30</sup> “General causation is whether a substance is capable of causing a particular injury or condition in the general population, while specific causation is whether a substance caused a particular individual's injury.”<sup>31</sup> Here, Dr. Cook is listed as Plaintiff's only expert witness on causation.<sup>32</sup> On this topic, Dr. Cook produced a report dated March 14, 2022 and entitled “Health Effects Among Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill Response and Cleanup Workers: A Cause and Effect Analysis.”<sup>33</sup> This report is not unique to this case; another judge of this Court has described it as “an omnibus, non-case specific general causation expert report that has been used by many B3 plaintiffs.”<sup>34</sup>

Five other sections of the Eastern District of Louisiana have excluded Dr. Cook based on this same report before the Court.<sup>35</sup> After carefully and thoroughly reviewing those decisions, and for the same reasons articulated by Judges Ashe, Vance, Barbier, Morgan, and Zainey, the Court grants
