Representative Cases:

- Represented children's car seat manufacturer against defective-design product liability claims, emanating from a catastrophic accident that left a young child paraplegic. Plaintiff's counsel, who had recently secured an eight-figure trial recovery based on similar claims and injuries, estimated the value of plaintiff's damages at a comparable amount. Brokered a voluntary dismissal of all claims, without payment of any consideration, after questioning reliability of plaintiff's engineering expert's opinions in light of contradictory forensic evidence.
